WARRANTY

Gatorback Mud Flaps have a limited lifetime warranty. This warranty covers the rubber (e.g. tear offs) for the lifetime of the product to the original owner. It does not cover regular wear and tear on brackets, plates or mounting hardware.

LEGEND

OFFICIAL LICENSED LOGOS

The plates that appear on the chart have been officially licensed through Ford, Mopar, GM and Nissan.

PART NUMBERS

Our Gatorback mudflaps are available with Stainless Steel or Aluminum hardware options. The Stainless Steel hardware is preceded with the "GB" designation. For all Aluminum hardware, part numbers are preceded by the "GA" designation.

Using hardware with dissimilar metals will wreak havoc on your truck.

Use: GA for any aluminum body Ford
GB = Stainless Steel - steel body trucks

All part numbers begin with a prefix that designates category of mudflap

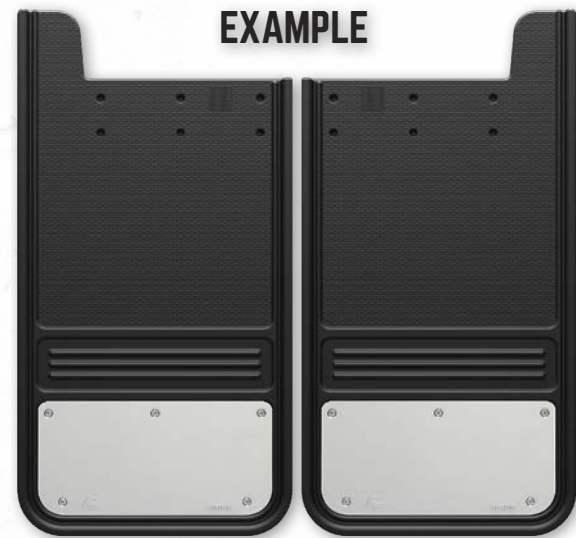

- GB = Stainless Hardware included
- RB = Razorback
- GA = Aluminum Hardware Included
- GM = Gunmetal Plate with SS Hardware
- GMA = Gunmetal Plate with Aluminum Hardware
- GCR = Gatorback Custom Rubber
- GCS = Gatorback Custom Stainless
- RCR = Razorback Custom Rubber
- GN = Gatorback Nylon
- GCN = Gatorback Custom Nylon
- GAA = GB Universal Black Anodized Aluminum
- GCAA = GB Custom Black Anodized Aluminum

For Universal options the next 4 numbers dictate the rubber size:

- 1018 = 10" x 18"
- 1223 = 12" x 23"
- 1226 = 12" x 26"
- 1418 = 14" x 18"
- 1924 = 19" x 24"
- 2124 = 21" x 24"

Letters that appear at the end of the part number are used to describe the plate style (see chart):

- SS = Stainless Steel
- RV = Ram Vertical
- D = Denali
- BT-G = Bowtie-Gold

GB1223SS

GATORBACK

(GM) = Gun Metal

*Non logo plates also available

AVAILABLE PLATE FINISHES

Gatorback mudflaps are not only durable and protect your vehicle from road debris, but include a vast array of plates and finishes, allowing you to customize your ride. Plate finishes include Stainless Steel, Gunmetal, Black Wrap and our newest offering, Black Anodized.

Plates come in standard (non-logo'd) as well as officially licensed logo'd plates through Ford, Mopar and GM.

UNIVERSAL MUDFLAP STYLES

The most commonly used flaps are the 12"x 23" STANDARD FLAPS for STOCK TRUCKS

GB1223CUTSS

GB1223SS

*Generally, people use the "CUT" style on the front and "Square" on the rear, however, in the end, there are no hard and fast rules for choosing mudflap style.

"EXCEPTION TO THE RULE"

GB1223C09SS

These parts include "C09" in the part number ie. "GB1223C09" and look like this:

*2009-2023 Ram Classic we have a special front that is cut to accommodate the bump in the wheel well.

FAQ:

Q: I have factory running boards, will these work?

A: They will work with modifications - we have information regarding this if needed

Use: GCN406F1

Q: Will these work on Sasquatch, Everglade or Heritage Edition?

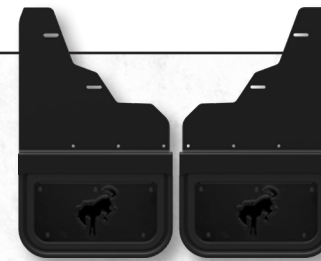

A: Yes! No issues or modification required. Options only matter based on which steps are on the vehicle

Q: What is the difference between a "Running Board" & "Rock Rail"?

A: See image below

Have Running Boards but still need Mudflaps?

There are modifications you can do to make it work!

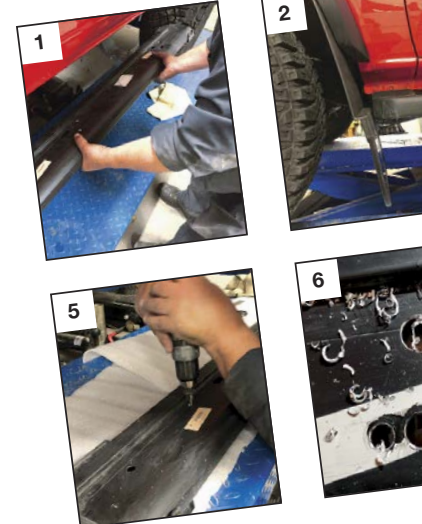

2021 Bronco 2-Door – Running Board Modification

- It may be helpful to first watch the mudflap install video prior to the board fix
- You need to order front mudflaps without rock rail or running board option

1. Remove both sides of Running Boards from your Bronco (move to the side)
2. It is important to install the front set of Mudflaps, so you can determine the correct placement of the Running Board
3. Once the front Mudflap is fully installed, set the Running Board to be installed. Please note – you do not want the Running Board rubbing against each other. Set the running board slightly back from the front mudflap.
4. Once this is set, make a mark through the bracket holes so you can mark in the Running Board. These will be where the screws are drilled.
5. Drill the initial holes.
6. From these holes, measure approx 3/4" inward and toward the front of the Running Board.
7. Drill the 2nd hole large enough for the Spring Clip to be installed.
8. Install the board to the brackets.
9. Repeat on the other side.

Note: This modification may not work with 37 inch tires. It will take approximately 1 hour to adjust the boards, not including the mudflap install time

Disclaimer – This is only a general guide if one decides to alter their running boards. Do at your own risk.*

21-C Bronco 4-Door – Running Board Modification

- It may be helpful to first watch the mudflap install video prior to the board fix
- Order front with no rock rail or running board mudflap option

1. Remove the boards from both sides of your Bronco
2. Exchange the rear bracket with the middle bracket
3. The front bracket is different from the rear 2, remove bracket and draw a square off the existing holes. Drill 2 new holes in the opposite corners.
4. Install the driver board on the passenger side and vice versa
5. Ensure that the board is pushed as far forward as possible and install front and rear brackets and tighten hardware

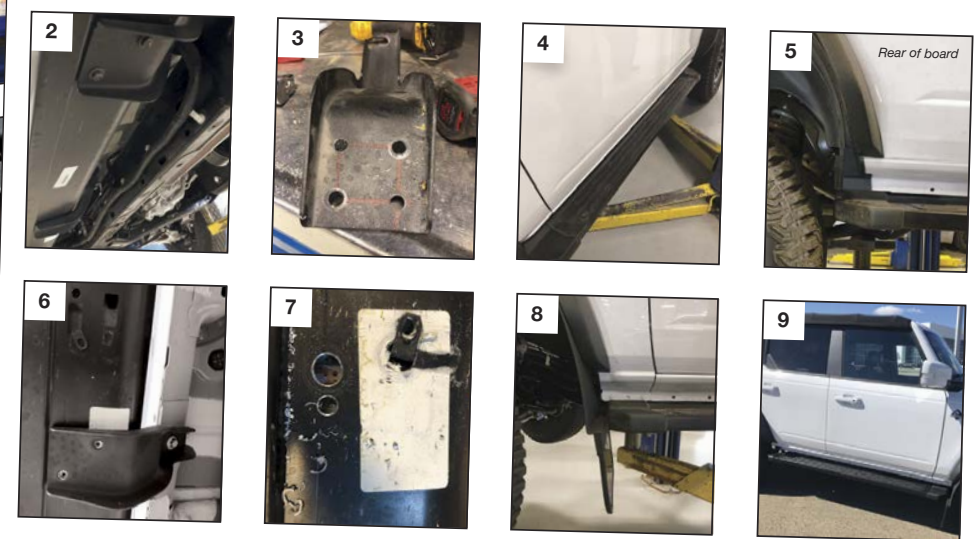

Running board sits too far forward into the wheel well

6. Once board is in place, mark on the running boards where the center bracket now lines up and where your new holes need to be drilled. You can alternatively drill pilot holes
7. Remove board and drill the new holes in your board for the middle bracket install. Also, you will have to drill new holes near by so that the spring nut can be installed
8. Reinstall board, again remember to push board as far forward as possible to give enough clearance for the rear tire
9. Loosely install until you see everything lines up and then tighten, starting in the center
10. Once this is done, you can install your Gatorback Mudflaps without the board being in your way in the front wheel well

Note: This fix may not work if the customer has updated to 37" tires. It will take approximately 1 hour to adjust the boards, not including the mudflap install time

Disclaimer – This is only a general guide if one decides to alter their running boards. Do at your own risk.*

SUPPORT BRACKETS

We didn't design a specific bracket for the 09-18 Ram, with the exception of the dually, as we found there was no need. For installation, customers drill directly into the wheel well and inner wheel liner, which act to provide additional strength and support to the mudflap.
